

Dear sirs,

Your proposal to begin using Low Power FM (LPFM) services at the expense of stations currently utilizing the FM translator service is unacceptable. One of the stations that currently services the San Antonio, Texas area (K-Love 91.3FM) is broadcast in our area on a translator. This station is a listener supported Christian station that is sent all over the United States. Utilizing the translator service saves the station lots of money that would otherwise be spent on duplicated staff, facilities and operating costs to provide this same service in the many areas that K-Love broadcasts.

This station provides a vital service to the San Antonio area by broadcasting wholesome, encouraging Christian music. This is the only station my teenage kids listen to. This is at their request, not ours. This station also broadcasts local and national news and programming that reflects our Christian morality and ideals. This is definitely not something our kids would get on commercial radio.

This station is very important to the San Antonio area, as well as all the areas in which it is broadcast. At a time when we have a hard time providing our families with wholesome entertainment, this station stands out. I have been a staunch financial supporter of this station for a number of years and hope to continue to be one.

Please do not take our station away from us in the interest of garnering more commercial license fees for your organization. Trust me, this station is unique and cannot be replaced by a licensed commercial operation. The government, of which you are a part, will never allow a commercial station to broadcast the truth that is delivered by our wonderful station.

Sincerely,

Joseph V. Feuge, II
